3-Yr. Transplants

This September picture was taken during the 3rd (and last) watering. We had 15.2 inches of rain from June through August. Best and hardiest large red berried Cotoneaster. Low spreader, fast grower when young, but dense foliage. Pots are the best liner for bedding or close spacing. 2-Yr. size is the large field liner or suitable for cans. 3-Yr. best for cloversets, cans, or small finished size. Should be 15 to 24 in. by fall.

EUONYMUS RADICANS ERECTUS

3-Yr. Transplants

Dense, small leaved, carefully selected strain of true upright Euonymus. Wonderful for canning, cloverset pots, or use on the job. Being used extensively for small hedges, filler plants, or accents. A quality evergreen shrub almost as inexpensive as Barberry and can be used more extensively with good effect.
